

Michael Feigleson

I am deeply honored to be considered for a position on the Cypress Christian School Board.

As CEO of Transportation Worldwide, Inc. (TWW), I have spent my career leading a respected independent international household goods relocation company that serves clients and partners in more than 135 countries around the globe. I take great pride in the way our team seamlessly collaborates with partners worldwide, delivering complex relocations with precision and unwavering reliability. Holding a bachelor's degree in accounting and management from Baylor University's Hankamer School of Business, I am grateful for the excellent private Christian education I received there. The integration of faith and learning at Baylor profoundly shaped my character, strengthened my faith walk and equipped me with the values and principles that continue to guide both my professional leadership and my personal life. That experience is one of the main reasons I am so passionate about ensuring Cypress Christian School remains strong for future generations.

A proud Katy resident, I am first and foremost a devoted husband and father. I met my wife Sarah at Baylor, and we have been happily married for 20 years. Together we are raising three children: our sons Dean (10th grade) and Luke (eighth grade) and our daughter Sloane (seventh grade). All three are actively involved in Cypress Christian School's athletic programs, particularly volleyball and basketball. Most evenings, you can find our family on the sidelines or at the scoring table of a CCS sporting event, cheering them on and soaking in the joy of watching them grow, compete and build lasting friendships in a Christ-centered environment.

For more than 20 years, I have been a member of Second Baptist Church, where my faith has been nurtured through worship and fellowship. This spiritual foundation shapes every area of my life and fuels my desire to invest in Christian education.

My wife and I carefully chose Cypress Christian School as our partner in the education of our children. We were first drawn to the school's rigorous academic programs grounded in biblical truth, as well as its outstanding athletic and fine arts programs. Yet what ultimately captured our hearts was the vibrant community of believers united in the shared mission of raising young men and women who honor God in all they do. It would be a great honor to serve this community and contribute to the distinguished legacy of Cypress Christian School as a member of the school board. Our world needs more Cypress Christian Warriors!
